Yvette Chen

Choreographer Juliana Garber seeks 1-2 enthusiastic and open contemporary dancers to join the process of developing a new piece for an October 15 performance at Triskelion Arts in Brooklyn, NY. The process involves working collaboratively, using improvisational scores and task-based exercises to investigate conceptions of impulse. Rehearsals will be twice a week (nights and/or weekends).

Choreographer Bio:

Juliana Garber is a dancer, choreographer and video artist from Yorktown Heights, NY. She graduated from Oberlin College with a B.A. in dance, earning the Helen M. Ward Memorial Award for Excellence in Dance. While at Oberlin, she had the pleasure of dancing in works by Amy Miller and Robert Wesner, as well as in several student pieces. Her experience also includes collaboration with numerous composers, dancers and technical artists. She is currently dancing and making work in New York City. Her work has been shown at Livestream Public, Triskelion Arts, Movement Research, the Hudson Guild Theatre, Green Space and the Secret Theatre. Visit julianagarber.com for more info.

If interested, please email juliana.garber@gmail.com with a headshot, resume and dance reel (or a couple of videos of you dancing).

Thanks!
