Applications are now available for the Spring Split Bill series at Triskelion Arts.

DEADLINE: December 1, 2015

Triskelion Arts' Spring Split Bill Series will run in two segments, March 31 - April 3, 2016, or April 21 - 24, 2016, bringing together pairings of artists to be presented in Triskelion's Muriel Schulman Theater.

The program's intention is to serve emerging artists who are looking for a stepping-stone between the traditional showcase format, and full, evening-length, self-production. There is a specific focus on audience development and cross-promotion and as such, Triskelion Arts will encourage participants to actively pursue audiences and participate in the marketing process for the entire series' artist line-up, not just advertise their own involvement.

Triskelion is accepting submissions of pieces that are 20 to 40 minutes in length. While Triskelion's focus is on providing opportunities for the dance community, all applications for work with a strong focus on movement will be considered. Priority will be given to new work that will not be presented at other venues prior to the Triskelion Arts premiere.
