Opportunity for National and International Touring

Company: Elements Dance No Borders

Brittany Losada

Elements Dance / No Borders is hosting a workshop / audition seeking female and male dancers for an upcoming tour to Rhode Island. We are also looking for dancers to perform in other national and international tours. Dancers will get seen by three different choreographers who all have their own companies and other commissioned work.

Elements Dance / No Borders is a dance collective with three major choreographers from across the United States (Denver, Seattle and NYC) who come together to analyze questions through both crisp, articulate movement and highly athletic, visceral, momentum based dance. Brittany Losada, Kim Holloway and Shawn Rawls have similar interests in communicating with the audience and a belief in technical excellence, while each bringing their own individual stamp. This collaboration expands the creative possibilities of each artist, bringing together the elements that make their art come to life.
