Triskelion Arts is seeking submissions for short works up to 15 minutes in length to be included in a mixed-bill program on THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 26th as part of CollabFest 2019.

Engaging with the question -- How do we communicate and share space with others? the mixed-bill performance is an opportunity for artists to try out new ideas or breathe life into old ones. All types of performing arts are invited to apply.

We are looking for works that engage with their medium and source material in a pluralistic way including but not limited to -- multi-disciplinary interactions, performative challenges, audience engagement, and new perspectives to established solutions.

The Festival will take place in our fully equipped, 88-seat, Muriel Schulman Theater. Artists will be allotted a short technical rehearsal the week before their performance date. There is no cost for artists to submit or participate. CollabFest Artists will be provided with marketing and promotion via our website, email blasts and social media, ticket sales and box office management as well as lighting design on our lighting plot by our Resident Lighting Designer during a short technical rehearsal. There is no financial compensation for CollabFest.
