I'm looking to form a collaborative dance company/group that focuses on creating work and performing in the modern and contemporary dance genre.

Ideally, the members would rehearse once per week, each member would be encouraged to contribute a piece of choreography, and the group would perform in dance festivals in and around NYC.

The pieces created by this group/company can be live performances, dance films, site-specific works, etc.

This group/company would be a fun, collaborative, and kind environment where the members can get together, create dance, and have fun. It would also be ideal to be able to rehearse in Queens (Astoria/LIC), but I am open to other locations as well. Also, weekday evening rehearsal times are preferred.

If this interests you, please contact me, Christina via email at hello@chriskayoga.com with a short paragraph about yourself including your dance background and links to videos of you dancing if possible. You can include headshots and links to social media as well.

I look forward to hearing from you! :)
