About Thresh

Thresh is a performing arts collaborative founded in 2005 that bridges western contemporary dance-theatre with Bharatanatyam (classical dance-theater of South India). Our work reflects the varied conversations of globalized, modern society while showing deep respect for the traditional movement forms of our Indian heritage and classical Indian dance training. Through the creation of new works featured in live performance with multi-media and engagement activities, we are able to contribute to the creation of new contemporary productions founded out of the collaboration made between disparate cultural and stylistic dance heritages.
