About the Joffrey Concert Group: The Joffrey Concert Group

is a pre-professional performing ensemble founded by Robert Joffrey in 1981, to provide young artists from the School's year-round Trainee Program the opportunity to experience life as a professional dancer. In the years since its founding, selected students studied and performed some of the most celebrated classical and contemporary repertoire, including the works of Gerald Arpino, Robert Battle, George Balanchine, August Bournonville, and Africa Guzman.

Bradley Shelver has been appointed to restart the ensemble and prepare the next generation of artists for the stage. As Artistic Director, Shelver will curate and oversee all artistic, educational, and outreach initiatives to honor and propel Robert Joffrey's vision for this performing ensemble forward.
