FACULTY: ANABELLA LENZU

DATES: October 5, 12, 19 & 26, 2024 (Saturdays from 11am-1pm – NYC time)

Online Choreographic Mentorship Program, is an Online 1 month program where YOU can immerse yourself in the creative process of a NEW choreography study for STAGE PERFORMANCE or a new short DANCE FILM study.

During one month, participants will be guided and mentored by Anabella Lenzu, international choreographer and teacher with over 33 years of experience.

During the weekly encounters online on Saturdays from 11am-1pm (NYC Time), participants will be given prompts to ignite new ideas and challenge their creative process for the creation of new choreographic material.

We explore different topics including: Form and Content, Music and Dance relationship, Ritual Vs. Performance, Text and Dance relationship, among others.

Through short in-class assignments and extensive work outside of class, participants will investigate the subject matter that they choose to explore in choreography for the stage or film. We look not only at what we dance but also ask the question "Why do we dance?"

Each session lasts 2 hours and includes: Focused time on development and experimentation with different techniques of Choreography, exploration and examination of the individual creative process, artistic brainstorming, feedback, as well collaborating with other artists and designers.

By exploring different choreographic methodologies (for live performances as well as for an online audience) the artist will work on a new creation expanding their creative toolbox with the end goal of presenting this material online at the end of the mentorship.

Besides your personal growth, this will be a unique opportunity to connect with other international artists working with deep intensity and strong vision.
