COLLECTIVE RESEARCH: If the world began with words or the sounds of words like it is said in many cosmogonies across cultures — then, do the words we used use for our work create its realities? How do we navigate meanings and realities between life, research, process, practice, product and marketing from the point of view of artists, presenters, funders, audience, society, economics, politics and cultures at large? What are the agents that crystallise meanings and how are these meanings used to create values? And do these values represent our realities? This event tackles these questions as a way to address our experiences of these values. Collective Research Group participants include Massimiliano Balduzzi, Daria Fain, Whitney V. Hunter, Tuomas Laitinen, Iki Nakagawa, Odeya Nini, Cassie Peterson, Chana Porter, Arturo Vidich... and more.
