A modern dance giant, choreographer/director Alison Chase celebrates the second New York City season of her dance theater company Alison Chase/Performance in a four-day performance series January 14-17 at Five Angels Theater. Bringing a highly kinetic element to dance adding multidimensional storytelling to create a signature style, Chase continues to morph the direction of American dance. This diverse program features eight dancers performing four pieces: world premieres of In the Forest of the Night and Tracings, and a retrospective of Chase's work from the past 15 years including Red Weather (2013), and Monkey and the White Bone Demon (2001).
