

January 25 - February 4, 2024

Aristotle Thinks Again

Company: Great Jones Repertory Company

Venue: The Downstairs

Location: New York, NY

► Share | Print | Download

Performed, co-created, and co-choreographed by maura nguyen donohue, John Maria Gutierrez, Valois Mickens, Kim Savarino and Guest Artist Marcus McGregor

ARISTOTLE THINKS AGAIN is part of Great Jones Rep's Humanismo: Ancient Futures Series. Directed by Dan Safer (Witness Relocation) with original text from playwright Chuck Mee, music composed by Julia Kent, set designed by Sara Brown, lighting by Jay Ryan, costumes by Alicia Austin, and sound design by Attilio Rigotti, the work continues a company June 2020 online workshop performance with Safer. GJR members are joined by guest performer Marcus McGregor to explore Greek tragedies, post apocalyptic possibilities, how awful people are, and how awesome it can be to exist on the planet.

Great Jones Repertory Company

66 East 4th Street

New York, NY, 10003

646-430-5374

<https://www.lamama.org/shows/aristotle-thinks-again-2024>

Schedule

January 25, 2024: 8:00pm

January 26, 2024: 8:00pm

January 27, 2024: 8:00pm

January 28, 2024: 4:00pm

January 29, 2024: 8:00pm

more

< back

previous listing • next listing