Every person is capable of Spectacle by just being inherently human. Spectacle is a film and live performance production imploding in the possibilities of love, but also addresses torrential questions that can come with it. We follow a woman in her re-examinations of sexuality, power, and trauma within society's placement of a female body. Her wild spirit challenges expectations and processes it all. If we can see women beyond objectification, make space to feel, and deconstruct gender roles and rape culture, there can be healing and freedom.
