Grab your sunscreen and meet us at the beach to collect and catalogue trash and debris. Last year 66,830 pounds of debris were removed along 233 miles of shoreline in New York State. We will provide bags and gloves.

As the trash comes in, we'll be working with artist Sina Basila to create Trashion (fashion made from the trash), culminating in a photo shoot by the water.

Rain date is September 30, 10am-1pm
