John Huntington

Dancify That! seeking dancers with an interest in comedy, improv and great audiences.

In our game show, contestants (dance duos) compete in creating dance inspired by viral videos. We project the video for contestants and audiences alike and then dancers have 3 minutes to create a dance inspired by the video. It's a huge blast (and really challenging) and the judges don't know much about dance (they're comedians) so the playing field is level in a very rocky and bizarre way.
