Join the directors of LeeSaar The Company for an intensive workshop that gives dancers the unique insight into how this innovative company works and creates.

We will start each rehearsal with a Gaga class continuing the research into individual solos that each dancer will create. We will invest in our own physical research and to allow it to inform our choreography and connect the physical content to the choreographic structure. We will look for keys for each participant to maximize his abilities and skills. The workshop will conclude with a showing of the participant.
