The Hoover Dam Collective (HDC) is a Brooklyn- based arts collective which has been producing large scale collaborative shows throughout the New York City since May 2010. On Saturday, September 27th, the HDC combines forces with several talented curators to produce one of their grandest events to date: an immersive evening of dance, music, poetry and visual art in an underground treasure of a loft space in Prospect Heights.

"FallOut" is in the format of a party- audience members can come when they like and leave when they are ready. A $12 cover gets you the opportunity to see an exciting variety of Brooklyn-based artists: 4 incredible bands, 3 unique dance/ theater companies, and many, many other special surprises. There will be a cash bar and free snacks, courtesy of local businesses. The show is an incredible opportunity to network, meet local artists, support the Brooklyn arts scene in our neighborhood, and be inspired for your own artistic endeavors.
