Choreographer Jeanette Stoner, known for her very individual style of dance/theater, will present her company in the premiere of "Into," set to music by Faure, along with company repertory. Her works have been described as "delicately humorous, or thoughtfully poetic, or strangely disturbing." (bearnstow journal) In The New York Times, she was described as "A choreographer who has paid her dues in New York, Ms. Stoner is prized for the intelligence of her dances and her choice of mature performers."
