

Sunday, October 25, 2015

Live Dance Performance at Teresa Diehl: Breathing Waters

Company: Areytos Performance Works and No Longer Empty
Venue: Seaport Culture District
Location: New York , NY

► Share | Print | Download

Matthew Murphy

Inspired by Yemaya, the Afro-Cuban orisha of the ocean, the dancers of Areytos Performance Works will cycle their way through the interactive labyrinth created by Venezuelan-Lebanese artist Teresa Diehl entitled Breathing Waters. This site-specific dance responds to the sculptural work of Diehl and the theme of water at the Seaport. All ages welcome to this free performance!

Areytos Performance Works is a dance theater company working at the crossroads of performance art, African-Caribbean dances, contemporary modern dance, collaboration and stage environments. APW has partnered with No Longer Empty using site specific dance theater as a way to engage the public with historic sites like the old Bronx Borough Courthouse and the Seaport.

Areytos Performance Works and No Longer Empty
117 Beekman Street at Titanic Memorial Park Square Dance begins outside at Titanic Memorial Park at back of Beekman
New York , NY, 10038

Schedule
October 25, 2015: 4:00pm, 6:00pm

< back

previous listing • next listing