

OUR NEW YORK CITY DANCE

January 25 - April 5, 2013

MOVEMENT SPEAKS/Chelsea

Company: Dances For A Variable Population Venue: Hudson Guild Fulton Center

Location: New York, NY

► Share | Print | Download

Offering older adults experiences as both performers and audience members, Movement SpeaksA lets them build dance from the stories of their lives. Led by dance artist Naomi Goldberg Haas with her professional company, Dances For A Variable Population (DVP), the 10-week dance program of workshops and a performance celebrates wellness, community and the joys of dance for adults of all ages on the Upper West Side, in Harlem and in Chelsea. Admission to the 75-minute workshops and performance program is free and open to the public. Participants in the workshops should wear comfortable clothing. There is no obligation for performance. Participants may choose to enjoy the benefits of movement, exercise and expression with or without performance. For more information, please call (347) 683-2691.

Dances For A Variable Population 119 Ninth Avenue New York, NY, 10003 http://www.naomigoldberghaas.com Schedule January 25, 2013: 8:00pm February 1, 2013: 8:00pm February 8, 2013: 8:00pm February 15, 2013: 8:00pm February 22, 2013: 8:00pm more

< back

previous listing • next listing