Atlantic Theater Company founding member and award-winning actor Jordan Lage conducts an extraordinary opportunity to immerse yourself in the plays, the philosophy, and the technique of Pulitzer-Prize winning author David Mamet (Glengarry Glen Ross, Speed-the-Plow, American Buffalo, China Doll) in a four-day comprehensive performance workshop culminating in a presentation of scenes from Mr. Mamet's works before an invited audience. In this unique master class, students will delve into the philosophy, dissect the plays, gain an unsurpassed insight to performing the signature roles, and act scenes from one of America's greatest playwrights.

If action excites you, if you crave performing in smart plays with bold ideas, if you revel in beautiful, poetic language spoken by some of the most electrifying characters in American dramatic literature, you must not miss this invigorating and inspiring master class workshop!

Tuition: $475

Limited to 12 actors. Interview required.
