FOUR ACCLAIMED FEMALE CHOREOGRAPHERS UNITE IN FIVE SHARED PERFORMANCES JUNE 14-18 Elisa Monte, Molissa Fenley, Margo Sappington, Jennifer Muller in Monte/Molissa/Margo/Muller - LIVE! New York Live Arts

Four acclaimed female choreographers, Elisa Monte, Molissa Fenley, Margo Sappington, and Jennifer Muller join forces this spring in Monte/Molissa/Margo/Muller - LIVE! at New York Live Arts, June 14 through June 18. The five-night program of shared performances will feature five works each evening, with three premieres and a cast of 25 dancers.

Monte/Molissa/Margo/Muller - LIVE! is a unique opportunity to experience Elisa Monte Dance, Molissa Fenley and Company, Margo Sappington and Jennifer Muller/The Works together on one stage for an eclectic evening of dance. "The Four M's" are all at the height of their careers, each offering a powerful and original voice. The Live Arts program provides an opportunity for each choreographer to share her unique point of view.

Each night, Monte/Molissa/Margo/Muller - LIVE! at New York Live Arts will present:

Elisa Monte Dance - DEXTRA DEI (Premiere) "Dextra Dei was started in 1989 as a response to what was then the AIDS assault on my community of friends. It was a men's quartet which premiered in Palais des Festivals et Congrès, Cannes, France. I've decided to bring the work back into my repertoire, as well as premiere an additional new section adding four women to the work." - Elisa Monte. Music by Tibor Szemzo.

Molissa Fenley and Company - THE THIRD COAST (Premiere) and MALI - The Third Coast (parts 1 and 2) and Mali (part 8) of Water Table (2015-2016). The dances of Water Table present the qualities of water, the abundance or lack of pure water in a geographical area or the conditions and patterns of large bodies of water. The Third Coast, music by Ryuichi Sakamoto; Mali, music by Laetitia Sonami.

Margo Sappington - ENTWINED (to wind or twist together) - A sensual exploration involving not just the body but also the spirit in a dance at once extremely physical and exquisitely delicate. The mood is set by the serenity of Erik Satie's solo piano compositions, the Gnossiennes.

Jennifer Muller/The Works - WORKING TITLE (Premiere) "I have been thinking about the difficulty of defining relationships in today's world. Types of partnership have changed and can range from cursory to deeply involved. Any significant relationship requires constant work to avoid conflict and misunderstanding but often we don't have or are not willing to put it in the time. To further complicate matters, once we give in to intense emotion, it can thwart communication, confound hope and affect intimacy." - Jennifer Muller. With origins as a subway performer, Yut and the Hot Four's passionate music, played live on stage, heightens the intensity of the piece.
