November 1-17

T Th 10am-12pm

MR@Danspace

Inside of improvised scores and learned movement sequences, we will cultivate and interrogate strategies for dancing. We will observe how we engage with material, and what we notice about our engagement will also become material. We will consider functionality and expressivity. We will dance together and for one another.

Stuart Singer is a dancer who has recently been working inside the projects of Beth Gill, John Jasperse, Joanna Kotze, Wally Cardona, and Gwen Welliver. He currently teaches at Princeton University and for the American Dance Festival.
