

December, 13-15, 2019

Shared Evening: Garnet Henderson and Anna Peretz Rogovoy at the Flea

Company: Garnet Henderson and Anna Peretz Rogovoy

Venue: The Flea Theater

Location: New York, NY

► Share | Print | Download

Em Watson

Contemporary choreographers Garnet Henderson and Anna Peretz Rogovoy will present their second shared evening of dances, "Our" (Henderson) and "Major Crater" (Rogovoy), both premieres. Both New York City-based dance artists who work with formally rigorous and technically astute movement, Henderson and Rogovoy first co-presented their work in June 2019 at HERE Arts Center after several years of offstage dialogue.

Henderson's "Our," a duet performed by Henderson and Rebecca Hadley, grew out of a previous duet entitled "Our Bodies Get Too Far Apart." The work carries forward the previous dance's themes of striving individually and together, evolving into an examination of interdependence and reliance. It asks what we owe to one another and what it means to need another person.

Rogovoy's contribution to the program, "Major Crater," is a quartet exploring disruption and variation in pattern and cycle. Drawing abstract inspiration from the natural world (shifts in texture and volume of light at dusk) as well as pre-existing art works (George Balanchine's "Serenade"), "Major Crater's" emergent narrative is one of availability and resilience. Danced by Rebecca Hadley, Pareena Lim, Michael Parmelee, and Rogovoy.

Garnet Henderson and Anna Peretz Rogovoy

20 Thomas St
New York, NY, 10007
(212) 226-0051

<http://theflea.org/shows/shared-evening-garnet-henderson-and-anna-peretz-rogovoy/>

Schedule

December 13, 2019: 7:00pm

December 14, 2019: 7:00pm

December 15, 2019: 3:00pm

< back

previous listing • next listing