Led by Jennine Willett, Co-Artistic Director of Third Rail Projects and co-creator of the immersive theater hits Then She Fell, The Grand Paradise, and Learning Curve, this three hour workshop shares methods for generating and directing choreography as a means of storytelling. Participants will work independently to create phrases, and then collaboratively to analyze and apply different directives to the material, working together to deepen and clarify the stories we are telling through our movement. A dance or theater background is a suggested prerequisite for this course.
