GREYZONE and Emily Kessler/POGO present an evening of new work on September 20th and 21st at Mark Morris Dance Center, 7:00pm

AMPLITUDE, a new GREYZONE dance created by Lindy Fines in collaboration with five performers, combines movement and visual design into a collage of human experience. The dance shifts through movement styles and gestures, from classical to contemporary, building a maximal work of forms, sensations, and relationships. Intricate choreography reveals connections among the performers, manifesting as a love letter to dance and community.

Rumble Strip stands on an edge. The dancers embody two forms of strength: athletic and formal. Their movements are precise, but collectively they spill like marbles bouncing around the room. Oscillating between kinetic sculpture and force majeure, Rumble Strip unleashes a relentless flow of form that washes the space in an increasing intensity. This work is choreographed by Emily Kessler in collaboration with the dancers.
