Since 2016, the Harlem Project has been building community and bringing together young people from across NYC to create and perform alongside our professional artists. And we're back for another year! This year, we celebrate the richness of our diverse origins while recognizing the strength that comes from connection and collaboration.

The project brings together 60 young people from across NYC each summer to work alongside the MWC dancers, culminating in a free performance event with performances and community Zumba before the show. See you in the Park!

*In case of rain, the event moves to FSUMC/The People's Church at 163 East 111th Street (corner of Lexington Avenue).
