Traumnovelle' is site-specific collaboration created by Anatomiae Occultii founders Adam Barruch + Chelsea Bonosky.

The work was originally premiered in June 2019 with a sold out run, and will be presented once again at Arts-on- Site's 5th Floor apartment space on St. Marks, 5F.

This second run of shows will open November 12th and run through November 25th. This intimate and provocative work will be held for only 13 people per night.

'Traumnovelle' explores the dangers in lifting the veil on our innermost desires, while following a couple in their apartment in what is perceived to be a quiet evening at home.

Taking from a variety of influences: the work of writer Arthur Schnitzler, director Stanley Kubrick and composer Morton Feldman and poet Rupi Kaur--'Traumnovelle' utilizes Anatomiae Occultii's signature kinetic gestural language to weave an abstract narrative with a complex and emotionally charged vocabulary.

Adam Barruch and Chelsea Bonosky met in Montreal, and began what is now a 10 year collaborative partnership. Their work together has led them around the world creating and performing under the epithet Anatomiae Occultii (Hidden Anatomy).
