The DeVos Institute is currently accepting applications for the Performers in Transition Arts Management Fellowship.

The 2012 Fellowship is for professional dancers in New York City who have a committed interest in transitioning into arts management. The Fellowship will run from June 2012 to September 2013 and provide formal arts management training and applied experience in producing with a Brooklyn based dance organization. This opportunity is offered in conjunction with the Brooklyn Academy of Music Professional Development Program that will provide professional development training and deeply discounted theater and rehearsal studio rental to a select group of Brooklyn non-profit organizations each year. Fellowship participation is free of charge for successful applicants.□□

The deadline for applying online is March 15.
