Moderated by Leeanne M. G-Bowley

Let's start a movement! In this edition of Center Line, the Dance/NYC Junior Committee will share the big ideas they're developing to address the big issues facing the dance field. Over the past year, the Dance/NYC Junior Committee has created a think tank structure in order to tackle the difficult challenges that need to be addressed in the dance field. The goal is to put critical thought into action. Junior Committee members will share their ideas, findings, and actions with participants, and everyone who attends will have an opportunity to make an impact through this interactive session.

The Dance/NYC Junior Committee will begin its 2013 recruiting season in mid-April. The event will include time for networking, and provides a great opportunity for interested applicants and others to get to know the Junior Committee's work and current members.

The Dance/NYC Junior Committee is a group of New Yorkers for dance ages 21-30 that represent a wide range of positions, roles, and disciplines within and outside the dance field. Dance artists, educators, administrators, audience members, funders, and advocates come together to serve as a liaison for their demographic to the wider dance community. The Junior Committee provides a forum for dialogue among the diverse perspectives in the dance field while generating ideas that will serve the common goals of the Junior Committee and those of Dance/NYC. The Junior Committee fosters professional development in its constituency and serves as an incubator for the next generation of dance leadership in New York City.

Center Line is presented in partnership with Dance/NYC.
