Creative artist, choreographer and dance teacher Olu Alatise is joining us live from the UK to give you first hand knowledge on dance trends in Afro'Dance, focused on Ghana's Azonto. In this class, students will be delighted to learn the fancy footwork, freestyle and history of this popular Street dance. During the workshop, students will also learn and explore Afro-Fusion choreography.

Miss Lulu is a dance artist, creative director, choreographer, teacher, mentor, creative representative, and female empowerment activist. Her versatile body of work has afforded her opportunities to collaborate with some of the best HipHop and Street dance choreographers in the UK. Olu is the founder and choreographer of AfroQueens dance group, the organizer of AfroQueens International Dance camp, creator of "AfroTalk with Miss Lulu," and co-founder of talent agency LD CREATIVES.
