Stephen de las Heras

Melissa Riker/Kinesis Project dance theatre's newest large-scale, outdoor performance, Breathing with Strangers, is a ragged, sweeping and surprising love-song to New York City. Dancers appear and disappear as the choreography twists around and within the levels, buildings, and hillsides of Snug Harbor's Shinbone Alley.

This project invites the audience to witness, interact, and follow the performance — and consider how generous moments between strangers can occur.

WHERE: Meet inside Newhouse Center near Building C entrance | The performance will continue along Shinbone Alley

Q + A and reception after 4 PM performance
