mamihlapinatapai: "A look that without words is shared by two people who want to initiate an action, but that neither will start." I would like to acknowledge, honor, and credit the Yaghan people of Isla Grande de Tierra del Fuego for developing such a beautiful word that inspired this work.

Imani Gaudin is an imaginative multidisciplinary performing artist and choreographer. Weaving together elements of dance, performance art, music, film, culinary arts, and visual arts, she builds immersive, whimsical worlds of fantasies that provoke thought and transport audiences into new dimensions of imagination. As the Founding Artistic Director of gaudanse (Gaudanse, Inc.)—a nonprofit interdisciplinary dance production organization—Imani is dedicated to promoting accessibility and sustainability in the world of dance and the performing arts. Imani was recently commissioned by Baryshnikov Arts and the Hudson Yards Hell's Kitchen Alliance to premiere jakob&imani, a work in collaboration with visual artist Jakob Vitale. She was also an Artist in Residency at Kaatsbaan Cultural Park in March of 2025 where she developed her new works mamihlapinatapai, as well as Nanibu which premieres in April of 2025 in her hometown New Orleans, LA. As a performer, Imani is currently a movement artist with TRIBE under the direction of Shamel Pitts.

gaudanse (Gaudanse, Inc.), is an interdisciplinary dance production organization. This collective of multidisciplinary movement artist, founded by Imani Gaudin in June of 2020, is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit that is rooted between New York, NY and New Orleans, LA. Weaving together elements of dance, performance art, music, film, culinary arts, and visual arts, gaudanse builds immersive, whimsical worlds of fantasies that provoke thought and transport audiences into new dimensions of imagination. Through accessible programs, mentorship, workshops, and performances, the collective is committed to propelling the artistic growth of early career creators.

gaudanse acknowledges and honors that we live and function on the land of the Munsee Lenape, Canarsie, Wappinger, Houma, and Choctaw peoples.
